OUR BREEDING OPERATION

Rayleigh Poll Hereford Stud was established in 1957. Now with over 60 years of experience in the industry, we produce lines of cattle that are reliable in both their performance and predictability.

The aim of the Stud has always been to breed functional and efficient cattle, noted for their ability to fatten on pasture and carry themselves through tough times. Structural soundness, doing ability and natural muscling are at the forefront of our program to ensure this vision is met. Maintaining productivity and fertility in dry times are further attributes integral in our program. Being from a marginal climate our cattle are well accustomed to these conditions, as well as semi arid type pastures. This allows for our bulls to be well adapted, low fuss and ready to work under a variety of conditions.

In any beef operation, we recognise that carcass and performance are integral components in maximising profitability. We select heavily for these attributes, using visual assessment and EBV data. Breedplan is used as a tool to assess and improve performance, as well as optimise milking and calving ability in our program.

We are very proud of this year's sale line up, and believe them to be representative of this vision. All bulls are 7 in 1, Pestiguard and Vibrio vaccinated, Eprinex treated and semen, morphology and soundness tested.

BREEDPLAN EXPLAINED

Breedplan is a performance evaluation program that compares bulls “on a level playing field” for a number of important commercial traits.

The difference between a bull’s genetics and the breed benchmark for a range of traits is reported as an Estimated Breeding Value (EBV) - an estimate of how a bull will perform as a parent rather than how he looks on the day.

EBV’s can be positive or negative, ie above or below the breed benchmark of zero.

EBV’s are calculated from the available performance information on the animal, its parents, progeny and its close relatives within the breed. The information is adjusted for age, dam age and for differences between herds, years, season of calving, management effects and for mating and selection biases. The heritability of the trait is also taken into account.

Birth Weight - The lower the birth weight EBV, the lighter is the birth weight potential of the progeny.

200 Day Weight - Indicates the relative weight advantage of a sire at 8-10 months of age.

400 Day Weight - Indicates the relative weight advantage of a sire at yearling age.

600 Day Weight - Indicates the relative weight advantage of a sire beyond yearling age. This EBV is important if selecting sires to breed steers for grain fed export markets.

Genetic Milk - Reflects extra calf weight at weaning due to the genetic influence a sire has on his daughters milking and mothering ability.

EMA - Bulls with positive EBV’s for this trait are expected to produce more muscular progeny than bulls with negative EBV’s.

Fat Depth - Bulls with negative EBV’s for this trait are expected to produce leaner progeny than will bulls with positive EBV’s

Intra-muscular Fat Percent - Estimates the genetic difference in the percentage of intra-muscular fat at the 12/13th rib site in a 300kg carcass. Positive values are generally more favourable.

Scrotal Size - This EBV is an indicator of male fertility in regards to semen quality and quantity. Higher EBV’s indicate higher fertility potential of male progeny and is positively correlated to age of puberty in daughters.

Mature Cow Weight (MCW) - Is an estimate of the difference in cow (daughters) weight at calf weaning time and is an indicator of mature cow size and potential feed maintenance requirements.

Carcass Weight (CW) - Estimates difference in carcass weight at a standard 650 days of age.

BREED AVERAGE - To aid in your interpretation of the GROUP BREEDPLAN EBV’S in this catalogue please find below the Breed Average EBV’s for the 2016 drop calves.
